On [redacted] 1951, Frankfurt/Oder-Kunersdorf (O 53/V 73) airfield was occupied by two biplanes and four twin-engine low-wing monoplanes. It was observed that east-bound and west-bound courier air traffic had increased. Previously two planes were seen daily flying to and from each direction whereas now five planes have been observed every day.*

Comment. Previous information gave the impression that the airfield was abandoned. On [redacted] 1951, [redacted] that large-scale construction work was being done on the runway and buildings. The information that the field is probably occupied by courier planes is credible. An intended permanent occupation of the field is considered probable.
